NEWS LETTER

Dear Devotees

It is evident from recent city council inspection that public health is paramount to any food outlets. Therefore we have decided to build a commercial kitchen meeting food safety standards in the Sri Selva Vinayakar temple premises to cater for both retail during weekends and volume production for functions. In recent times, there are lots of devotees coming to the temple to worship and buy food.

I would like to invite devotees who have experience in this field to help us with this project. Also we need a volunteer architect to prepare the kitchen plans that will meet the requirements.

The preliminary cost estimate for this project is between $250,000 to $300,000. We hope to start on this project by the end of July 2018 and complete within an year provided we can raise funds to meet the cost.

We would set up a separate fund for this project.

Your suggestions are welcome.
